

'Travelling to Spain with University Jaume I (UJI) was an extremely rewarding experience. Even after having travelled to over ten European countries, it was interesting to see the cultural differences between these. Being an International Business major, it fitted perfectly into my academic interests. We had business-related field trips to the Chamber of Commerce and tile manufacturing companies, but at the same we were able to learn about Spanish dishes and the film industry. That is what business is about: understanding their culture and applying it in business settings.'

Stefanie Smith, former student of International Business, Saint Edward's University, Texas, The United States.

'I enrolled in the short-term study abroad program that traveled to Castellón de la Plana, Spain in 2012 and it was an incredible experience. I had never been able to travel abroad while studying before that time, and I am so glad that I finally did. As a part of our course we attended seminars with professors from UJI, and several from business professionals in the Castellón area. But apart from the studying, we were able to also enjoy trips to nearby cities like Morella and Peñíscola, which let us travel even more during our time here. Along with the trips we also attended a traditional Spanish cooking course, museum of modern art, and of course, we were able to take full advantage of the Spanish nightlife. Despite only being here for 10 days, I absolutely loved experiencing the Spanish culture firsthand and only wish I could have stayed longer. So much so that after graduation from Steds I enrolled in a Masters program, and currently live, here in Castellón. Don't miss out on this once-in-a-lifetime experience!'

Robert Olivieri, former student at the Capstone group at St. Edward's University, Texas, The United States.

